

«Les anciens aérodromes»

« Old airfields »

Introductions

*

The group

A research group made out of and for people in love of aviation history, for writers, for private pilots, for people interested in sites of memory as well as for specialists of the first and the second world war.

The project

Publish descriptive articles about certain aerodromes still opened to the air traffic but also some others now abandoned or even having disappeared altogether, either as a quasi-archaeological inventory or as a historical story.

Establish a classification by region but without neglecting to also welcome within our subjects of interest other countries thanks to the on-line insertion of links and to the collaboration of other researchers for those countries.

To work together and to share our knowledge, everyone can make his contribution, whether via a historical study or simply by reporting a simple anecdote !

Our work tools

<http://www.anciens-aerodromes.com>

web site open for everybody

A private forum

Exchange area for all members

A newsletter

for contact

Contacts

You can join us and contribute to our work by proposing us studies on airfields in your area allowing us to know about your work, and you to share in our exchanges.

Laurent Bailleul laurent-bailleul@orange.fr

Jean Luc Van Campenhout patagonie24@hotmail.com